

5 Days of Observing Economic Insecurity Near The New School

This is a summary of the five days I spent chronicling the people I encountered as they slept, held signs, shook plastic cups and waited for the generosity of others.

